(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, Nov. 14.—The cold wave from the Rocky mountain region continued to move eastward today and freezing temperatures had extended southward to the Mexican border where the troops were feeling their effect. The coldest place today was Lander, Wyo., where it was ten degrees below zero. Pueblo, Colo., and Valentine, Neb., reported eight below, Charles City, Ia., and North Platte, Neb., four below and Huron, S. D., two below.

The advancing cold was being felt throughout the middle west and practically all states east of the Mississippi river but it seemed to be losing its intensity as it moved eastward. Snow has been falling in New England, interior New York, the Great Lakes region and the Upper Mississippi valley, while rain, sleet and snow were falling in the Ohio valley and Tennessee, sleet and rain in the west gulf states and rain in the middle states and southern New England.

Much colder weather is predicted to over spread the Atlantic and east gulf states tonight and Wednesday and the upper Ohio valley and lower lake region tonight. Cold wave warnings were issued today for the middle Atlantic states, except interior New York and the east gulf and south Atlantic, except Lower Florida.

The temperature today had moderated somewhat in the North Rocky mountain region but was much below seasonal averages in all western districts.

El Paso, Texas, reported 22 degrees, San Antonio, 28, Corpus Christi 34 and Brownsville 38. At Chicago 16 degrees was reported while St. Paul reported six, St. Louis 16, Omaha 4; Cincinnati 26 and Indianapolis 20.

In the east, Buffalo reported 24 degrees, New York 52; Portland, 22 and Boston 32.

The West Indian disturbance was central this morning south of Western Cuba and moving southward. It was believed this storm would have the effect of intensifying the cold in the southern states.

ELECTOR IN IDAHO MAY BE RULED OUT; HUGHES GAINS ONE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Boise, Idaho, Nov. 14.—Because James E. Pincock, one of the four Democratic presidential electors chosen in Idaho also was a candidate for the state legislature from Custer county and was elected, Idaho's electoral vote, instead of being four for President Wilson, is likely to stand three for Wilson and one for Hughes. It was reported here today. The law disqualifies any presidential elector who is also the holder of a state position and Pincock's eligibility will be tested, political leaders here say. If he is disqualified, the highest Republican elector may cast his vote.

LEND A HAND, EVERYBODY

AMERICAN SHIP CAPTAIN WAS ON U-BOAT SIX DAYS

Corunna, Spain, Nov. 14.—Capt. Frederick Curtis of the American steamer Columbian, who arrived here with the rescued crew of the steamship, declared to a representative of the Associated Press yesterday that he was a prisoner on board the German submarine U-49 for six days after the destruction of his vessel. All of his crew of 109 were saved, he said.

Captain Curtis said the Columbian was warned before she was torpedoed and sunk by the U-49. The crew left in lifeboats and the captain was taken on board the submarine. Capt. Arthur Waterson of the British steamer Seatonica says that he also was a prisoner on board the U-49 for eight days during which time he heard the guns of the submarine in action and also heard distinctly the explosion of the torpedo which he learned later blew up the Norwegian ship Balto, soon after which Captain Yelungsen of the Norwegian ship Fordalen, joined him in the narrow prison on board the submarine, where they were joined on the following day by Captain Curtis.

"My ship, registered at New York," said Captain Curtis to the correspondent, "carried a cargo of about 9,000 tons and a crew of 109, all of whom were saved. I stopped on the command of the submarine whose commander ordered me to abandon the ship with the crew immediately, which we did without other baggage than two satchels with documents and money."

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Columbus, Nov. 14.—The Ohio Millers' Association holding its semi-annual meeting here today will not endorse the national bakers proposed embargo on wheat according to F. H. Tanner, secretary of the Millers' Association. Leading millers declared that such a measure would work a hardship upon the farmers and would have no practical benefits. The subject will be considered by the American Railway Association at its semi-annual meeting here tomorrow. NEW OFFENSIVE SUCCEEDS

New Objective is Set By British In Latest Drive Against Teutons—French Report Activity Along the Champagne Front—Capture of Village Confirmed—Russians Stem Tide

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
London, Nov. 14.—With important ground on a five-mile front already won from the Germans on the northern edge of the Somme region and across the Ancre brook, in northern France, the British are fighting on in their new offensive. Already they have taken more than 4,000 prisoners, and the number is reported increasing considerably.

London officially confirms the news of the capture of Beaumont-Hamel, north of the Ancre, one of the strongest points in the German defensive line in this region. British troops stormed this heavily fortified position and further south advanced to the edge of Beaucourt-sur-Ancre.

Apparently the British are not relaxing their pressure, now that they have succeeded in materially sharpening the salient in the German line by their advance up the Ancre valley, as London reports the battle continuing. Miraumont, on the Albert-Bapaume railway and ultimately Acaet Le Grand, an important railway junction point northwest of Bapaume seemingly are the British objective.

Paris reports German activity in the Champagne region where an attack on the French lines near Aubervy by a strong hostile detachment is declared to have been repulsed.

On the eastern front, in the Carpathians, the Russians appear to be holding their own, Petrograd reporting the repulse of Austro-German attacks in this region.

Henz, clerk of courts for $274 which has been paid by Henz into the county fee fund.

In a report on Pike county, County Auditor L. B. Elyar is found to have overdrawn his salary $332.09 and a finding is made against him for $166.86 in fees due the county. All of it has been paid back by Elyar the report shows. The county treasurer is criticized for permitting officials to draw salaries in advance. Elyar's salary is said to have been drawn seven months in advance.

DOREMUS CLAIMS CONGRESSIONAL CONTESTS TO COME

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, Nov. 14.—Representative Doremus of Michigan, chairman of the Democratic congressional committee, declared at the White House today that control of the next house of representatives still was in doubt. He said the Democrats were certain of 212 votes and the Republicans of 211 with the district still in doubt. He took for granted there will be a large number of contests.

Any estimate of how the Progressives, Socialists and Independents will vote on organization, he declared, premature. Mr. Doremus saw no prospects for an extra session.

Count and Countess von Bernstorff.

Dr. Armgaard Karl Graves, the "international spy," who was arrested in Washington on a charge of having attempted to blackmail Countess von Bernstorff, wife of the German ambassador, by demanding $3,000 for three letters addressed to her and smuggled here from Germany, says the letters contained information about certain stocks which could be played as sure winners on the American market because of certain German activities to come about soon. He says Count Bernstorff has made millions of dollars by playing stocks on advance secret information from Germany.

St. Paul, Nov. 14.—Mr. Hughes' lead in Minnesota was cut today to below 200 with the final returns from the ten missing precincts of Koochiching county, the complete revised vote of St. Louis county, and a small change in Becker county.

The totals now stand: Wilson, 178,981; Hughes 179,136, giving Hughes a margin of 155. The Koochiching missing precincts were among those depended upon to help Wilson materially. The soldier vote has been practically a tie with about 500 to hear from.

BOLIN READY TO PROBE THE VOTE FRAUD IN OHIO

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Cincinnati, Nov. 14.—The arrival of United States District Attorney Bolin in Cincinnati and the expectation that Attorney Bolin of Indianapolis would be here later in the day were taken as indications at the government building that the election fraud cases are to be taken up at once by federal officials and a method of prosecution decided upon. There is a question as to whether warrants will be issued or action delayed until the federal grand jury convenes and indictments then asked for. Attorney Bolin has not requested a special grand jury.

SENATE

May Be Called Upon to Investigate Election of Its Members

CORRUPTION IS CHARGED

Evidence Said to Show Negroes From South Colonized in Close Districts In West Virginia and Indiana—Reports of Use of Money Reach Managers of Both Parties

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, Nov. 14.—A senatorial investigation of alleged misuses of money in the presidential campaign was announced definitely today by administration officials. Preliminary plans have been made and a resolution providing the machinery for the inquiry is ready to be introduced soon after congress convenes next month.

It was stated today that evidence was being collected but its details were not closed. The plan is to call those actually in charge of campaign finances before the senate committee and investigate the details of their transactions.

Various reports concerning use of money in certain states have come to Democratic headquarters as well as Republican headquarters.

Investigation into alleged attempts to colonize illegal voters in Indiana and West Virginia particularly has begun several weeks before the election. In those states Democratic leaders are planning to contest the election of United States Senators. Before the polls had closed last Tuesday, charges of corruption were being openly made by Democratic chiefs and predictions were freely circulated that exposures would follow the election.

Evidence is being gathered upon which to base contests in the election of Harry S. New and James E. Watson as senators from Indiana and Representative Howard Sutherland as senator in West Virginia. New, on the face of the Indiana returns, defeated Majority Leader Kern and Watson won from Senator Taggart. Sutherland in West Virginia defeated Senator Chilton.

It has been charged by Democrats that negroes were colonized from the south in states where the Republicans triumphed by small majorities.

If contests are brought they will have to be initiated in the new senate as each legislative body, is the judge of its own members. The Democrats will control the new senate by a majority of twelve votes.

PROBE IS WELCOME.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
New York, Nov. 14.—"The Republican national committee will welcome the fullest investigation of every penny spent by it," Chairman Wm. R. Wilcox of the committee said here today when informed of the steps for a senatorial investigation announced at Washington. He said that no charges or information as to the alleged misuse of funds in the campaign had been sent to any officials in Washington by the Republican committee.

Further legislation will be required for actual establishment of the proposed municipal food and fuel depots to sell coal and actual necessities of life at or near cost.

CABINET MEETING CANCELLED; WORK HEAVY FOR WILSON

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, Nov. 14.—President Wilson cancelled the Tuesday cabinet meeting and all other engagements today so he could dispose of the pile of routine work which has accumulated during the campaign.

The executive offices were thronged with visitors. Word has gone out that very few new appointments will be made.

CENSORS RECOMMEND SKIRTS OVER TIGHTS FOR CHORUS GIRLS

The censor board appointed by Mayor R. C. Bigbee to witness the burlesque shows at the Auditorium Monday afternoon, began its duties yesterday, four members being present, Messrs. Wm. E. Hopkins and Walter C. Symons and Mesdames E. E. Moore and Marietta Pierce. The fifth member, Secretary Frank L. Johnson of the Y. M. C. A. was engaged at another meeting. The board viewed the show through the two acts and at its conclusion met and made several recommendations in writing which were handed Mayor R. C. Bigbee and sent by that gentleman to Manager Geo. M. Penberg of the Auditorium. Some of the recommendations were complied with and others were not.

The burlesque shows booked here every Monday afternoon and evening by the American Wheel have been attracting large audiences, the matinee yesterday afternoon having more women in attendance than any previous company and capacity has been the rule in the evening. The members of the company, number at least twenty-five people.

These shows are not the old style burlesque shows of a few years ago, but are really more of a musical comedy, at popular prices. Chorus girls in tights appear weekly and in some instances nightly in every city of any importance in the country. They are a part of the entertainment and do not effect the sensibilities of theatre patrons. To those however, not accustomed to attending theatres, they may prove a distinct shock.

Manager Penberg has no desire to antagonize the city administration in its conduct regarding burlesque shows playing this city and will endeavor as far as it is possible to carry out its wishes in the matter.

Granville

(Special to The Advocate.)

Granville, O., Nov. 14.—So far on their journey through South America the "Travelers" have enjoyed an unusual number of afternoons quite beyond the ordinary scope of club papers, and Monday afternoon furnished another such privilege. Santiago was the stopping place and from there a comprehensive view was taken of the country and its people. Mrs. Alice K. Herrick presented "Current Events" in a wonderfully interesting way among other things calling attention to an article in the current number of the "Atlantic" on the "Devil Baby of Hull House." Mrs. E. P. Cook in an excellent paper on "The Central Valleys" gave a charming glimpse into the physical features both of the country and the city of Santiago itself, with its streets and buildings and the customs of its inhabitants. In illustration of her theme, Miss Rose Rugg, who lived for seven years in Santiago as matron of a school for girls of over two hundred pupils, exhibited a collection of articles used by the Chileans in every day life. She herself appearing in native garb. There are three dresses which are worn by the Chilean women to church, which mark the difference in their ranks, one of black crepe, heavily embroidered, having a voluminous scarf like drapery thrown over the head and around the body in most graceful folds, such as was worn by Miss Rugg yesterday. Another is of blue and another of brown. Several vessels of copper, a Chilean tea equipage and numerous articles of intimate use were displayed and about fifty pictures were passed by Miss Rugg showing Chilean life and scenery. Mrs. T. G. Field in her paper on "Robinson Crusoe's Island" gave the very spirit of romantic adventure. The island of Juan Fernandez furnished the setting of one of the most famous and delightful stories ever written, and Mrs. Field's paper was a valuable contribution to the club literature.

Despite the heavy rain which fell all last evening, Recital Hall was well filled with an audience of students and townspeople to hear Dr. Ivan Panim of Toronto, Canada, in his celebrated lecture on "From Spillings to Christ" which was a lecture with a message. All the work of this brilliant young Russian which he started out to do conscientiously, in order to benefit mankind and to make of himself the best man possible without God, without Christ, without the Bible came to naught; every plank in his strong platform of social uplift and reform one by one having been dragged from under him, until in his despair he felt that except for the cowardice of such an act, he would do well to end it by his own hand. It was then that he turned as the last resort, "The Sermon on the Mount" and for years he has been carrying the message of conversion to thousands all over the country. Dr. Panim is a graduate of Harvard and a citizen of the United States, and although he speaks with a slight trace of accent which is evident in his more impassioned utterances. It was a picturesque recital of his own experiences as if he were some one else whom he was describing—and his talk was brightened by frequent sallies of wit and humor readily caught by the sympathetic audience. The speaker was introduced in a brief but graceful speech by Rev. Millard Breseford.

Some complaint is heard concerning the new automatic phones, not through any lack in the service itself but through lack of care on the part of its patrons. In the first place it is said that since there is no "Central" to keep tabs on a call it is more important that the caller give the call more time in which to lay aside his or her occupation and walk perhaps quite a little distance to the phone. Some of the Granville houses are large, and as yet few are provided with a phone extension. In the second place the caller should be quite sure of the number before ringing. "Central" is not the only

SOCIALISTS POLL 270 VOTES; DRYS HAVE ONLY 117

At the election held Tuesday, Nov. 7, a total of 14,592 votes were cast in Licking county for the heads of the four tickets. Woodrow Wilson, Democratic candidate, receiving 8,187, Charles E. Hughes, Republican candidate, 5,477, Allen L. Benson, Socialist, 270 and J. Frank Hanley, Prohibition candidate, 111. There was only one candidate on the non-partisan ticket, Jacob S. Coxey, and he was a candidate for United States Senator and received 17 votes in Licking county.

Thomas Clifford, Socialist, candidate for governor received 270 votes, the same number as Benson, proving that the Socialists voted a straight ticket. John Simpson, Socialist candidate for congress from this district received 272 votes. John H. Dickson, Prohibition candidate for governor, received a total of 98 votes in the county, running 16 votes behind Hanley.

The illusion. "So you are going to get married eh?" "Yes; the longing for a little home where I can put my feet against the wall, brace my chin back and smoke my pipe in comfort got to be too much for me."

"That's a beautiful dream!" "Isn't it?" "So beautiful that it will be a shame for you to get married and spoil it."—Atlanta Constitution.

HONEST ADS WAS SUBJECT OF TALK OF MT. VERNON MAN

M. H. Rosenthal, of Mt. Vernon, secretary of the Ohio Retail Clothing Association, delivered an interesting address last night on honest advertising and legitimate competition, at the Chamber of Commerce before the members of the mercantile bureau.

A report on ad soliciting for the period between June 29 and November 9, showed that the local merchants had saved over $7,000 by not placing any advertising promises without the sanction of the chamber.

The Chamber of Commerce rating system now has 1,000 cards on file and 50 new cards have been filed since October. At a 25 new reports on system rating have been received since November. In a letter received from the mercantile bureau, a man who had been a member of the chamber, said that the rating system since he has used it, has saved him much money in bad accounts, to name them just for a three year membership in the organization.

FAT FOLKS WHO WOULD BE THIN

REDUCE WEIGHT 10 POUNDS OR MORE.

"I'd certainly give most anything to be able to reduce a few pounds and stay that way," declares every excessively fat man or woman. Such a result is not impossible despite past failures. Most fat people are the victims of super-nutrition, a condition which prevents the fatty elements of food from being consumed by the blood. Instead of only nourishing the blood, much of the fat producing elements are deposited in different parts of the body where they don't belong.

To correct this condition and to produce a healthy normal distribution of the nutritive processes must be artificially supplied with the fat-burning power which nature has denied them. This can probably be best accomplished by taking an Oil of Kerein capsule with every meal. Kerein is a careful combination of splendid fat-reducing elements, and its rapid effect has been in many cases reported remarkable. Reported reductions of from 10 to 25 pounds in a single month are by no means infrequent. Yet this action is perfectly natural and harmless. Oil of Kerein is sold by W. A. Erman, Evans' Drug Store, and other good druggists in the original sealed laboratory packages. (Advertisement.)

London Lacks Big Buildings.

It would have been well indeed if the designers of London had had some thought of what we might want in time of war. Then we should have had such towering piles of offices as glorify or disfigure—it is a matter of taste which word you choose—lower New York. But nature would have had to be kinder in the matter of foundations. New York has rock on which to build. London has chosen for its official center an area of the alluvial deposits of the Thames, and these give no secure foothold for thirty stories. One remembers that even when the present war office was built concrete foundations of enormous strength had first to be constructed.—Westminster Gazette.

Oldest Fort In New World.

It is a fascinating experience to visit Santo Domingo and wander amid the ruins of the ancient city—from the fortifications of Homensajo, the oldest in the new world, to the first stone church built on this side of the Atlantic, and to the tomb of the great discoverer. Nowhere else in this hemisphere are there scenes fraught with more historical significance to Americans than here where Columbus had his hour of triumph and his hour of sorrow, and where, when he had embarked upon the great voyage from which he would never return to endure the fire like fever of petty princes, his ashes finally found repose.—National Geographic Magazine.

ATTAINING SUCCESS.

He who has confidence in himself will win. The first step on the ladder that leads to success is the firm determination to succeed. The next step is the possession of the moral and physical courage which will enable one to mount up, rung after rung, until the top is reached.

Fresh Air Spirit.

As the cooler weather of autumn comes on, our indoor people begin to shiver at the first thought of a draft. There are a good many persons who habitually live in rooms with windows tightly closed, even in warm weather. They are fearful of the slightest breath of air. Ventilation and heat in churches, halls, and workrooms, is governed by the whims of these people.

Ventilation of sleeping rooms is a comparatively recent idea. Good authorities on physiology used to say that a window open one inch for each person in the room provided ample supply of fresh air. Breathing thick and stuffy air all night in such a room, one would rise with headaches and general listlessness.

Working capacity must be greatly affected by poor ventilation or the lack of it. It is very difficult to produce energy on a basis of stale air. If employers find their work people dull and lethargic, let them ask themselves whether they are providing decent access to oxygen.

Men who occupy working quarters with women employees say the latter often seem super-sensitive on the question of drafts. They wear to their business light and filmy waists, and then shiver if the temperature falls below 72, or if there is any breath of ozone touching their half clad shoulders.

A few years ago the fad for sleeping out of doors was fashionable. It restored many people to health. Many people have given it up, feeling that it was overdoing a good thing, and that they were constantly awaking to find themselves chilly. But it has influenced a good many sensible persons, who find that night is the one time of day when they can get all the fresh air they need.

Handling Fruit.

A new science of fruit culture is growing up. Formerly farmers were careless about packing and shipping these products. They failed to realize of what a peculiarly transient and fragile nature all fruit, especially apples, is composed. Apple pickers used to sit down on the ground under the trees, and as they sorted the fruit, they would toss the apples from one pile to another. This would make slight abrasions that would be the starting point for rot.

The least little wound in the surface of an apple is the beginning of decay. If there is a hard blow or wind and the fruit is shaken off, it is worthless. A fall of a few feet is likely to make a slight bruise that becomes the center of infection. Other fruits are even more fragile than apples, and demand even more careful handling.

The fruit cans of the country could be made a good deal more valuable if every grocer, merchant, or realized the need of great care in handling. The wrapping of each individual specimen in tissue paper is becoming more common, and in time will become universal with certain staples. Farmers used to think this was done to make the product look pretty and attract the eye of the buyer. It does have that effect. No doubt the price is a little more than enough for the labor and material. But farmers regard it as a fair price, and they are not to be followed by people. They have been back about

The Problem of Teachers' Salaries.

Some queer things in this world, aren't there? A bright faced, college bred girl from a cultured home gets on an average about $40 per week for 10 weeks, in the high and holy occupation of a teacher. To earn more money than that, she needs either exceptional gifts, or some specialist training.

Meanwhile a raw boned Poland from Warsaw, with a name that is a hedge fence of consonants, spends her first six months in America tending a hotel mangle, or waiting on table at a railroad boarding house. Then she can get $5 per week, plus board worth at least $2.50. She has earned $520, to the college girl's $140.

To many refined women, anxious to make a living in a way consistent with good social position, all this seems both contrary to good sense and tending to discourage educational preparation.

Yet it is essentially a question of supply and demand. The teaching profession is overcrowded. There is always a scarcity of women with the teaching gift.

The genuine teacher is almost an intuitive hypnotist. By some subtle sixth sense she reads the secret keys and paths that lead to the heart of the child. She does not command very much, she almost never punishes. Somehow or other she knows what wins the child mind. He translates the dull grind of the text book into things that seem vital to the child.

But there is always a surplus of girls to whom teaching is merely hearing children say their lessons and observing if the recitation corresponds with what the text book says. Such ones would better make pies and bread in some honest man's home, or rattle the keys of a typewriter in an office. The multiplicity and superfluity of this misplaced type is what puts the average teacher's pay below the living wage.

Votes for Women.

(Ohio State Journal.)
The tendency of the times is toward woman suffrage, and as it is an honest and wholesome tendency, we become a part of it, carry a banner, and vote for women; not only because it is a forward march but because it is justice. In the civic world there is no difference between the sexes. In business affairs they buy and sell, make contracts, own property, pay taxes, make wills, and it is sheer injustice to say they shall have no voice in the making of laws that cover the activities which are theirs by divine right.

But what is the sense of putting things in the way of this great reform. It is bound to come. In the very logic of democracy it is certain to be a part of our progress. The future will not recognize the false idea that a sex line divides the rights of humanity into two classes. Anybody can see that the evolution is in that direction, and it is an evolution as marked and constant as that from the trilobite to man, as Emerson says. So men and brethren, let us step aside and give the women the chance that belongs to them. Let us say to the women who want to vote, go and vote. In all probability they will do the voting good.

Animals and Weather.

(Chicago Herald.)
A dispatch from Duluth yesterday brought the old story that the Northern Indians are predicting a mild winter. The Indians say that the animals have light coats and the squirrels are not gathering nuts.

Cy De Vry was given an opportunity to forecast the weather from the coats on the bears and squirrels in Lincoln park.

"You can't get me to stand for that fairy story," said the Zoo head. "There is no truth in it. The animals put on their winter coats in the fall, and the fur gets heavier as the weather gets colder. If the squirrels are not gathering nuts it's because they haven't enough sense to do so."

Prof. C. B. Cory, curator of zoology at the Field Museum, laughed at the idea of forecasting the weather from the winter coats of bears. "They don't know any more about whether it will be cold or not than we do. They put on their winter coats in the fall and keep them until spring. It is just as heavy the fall before a mild winter as before a severe winter."

"As for the squirrels, many species collect only a few nuts. They sleep most of the winter and don't need food."

Glad the Strain is Over.

(New York Evening Post.)
Whatever may prove to be the division of American sentiment as to who should be the next President, there is one feeling that will be well-nigh universal throughout the country tonight—the feeling of relief that the campaign has at last come to an end. It began nearly a month earlier than usual and has dragged its weary length through June, July, August, September and October. With issues ill-defined, with the candidate of the opposition silent on some of the most crucial questions of the hour, and dealing with nearly all the others in a bald, crude and monotonous way, there was little to put life into the canvass. Mr. Wilson, in his speeches, was often at his highest level of expression—and that is saying a great deal—but furnished little of the real stuff of political controversy; of specific matter that provokes discussion and stimulates thought. As for other speakers and leaders, they figured but little in the public eye. Even Roosevelt, whose heart it is safe to say, was not 100 per cent in the fight—has made but little stir in the land. The months of this is too much.

When a woman gives herself, she gives a man that takes her. She gives a man that takes her. She gives a man that takes her. She gives a man that takes her.

Men are created equal, but nature built an additional story on some men's heads.

That chloroform was discovered by Soubreian and Liebig in 1831? It is prepared by cautiously distilling a mixture of alcohol, water, and chloride of lime. Its use as an anesthetic was introduced in 1847 by Professor James Y. Simpson of Edinburgh. Chloroform is a powerful solvent, dissolving resins, wax, iodine, strychnine and other substances.

Please Don't Go, Willie.

Dear Melting Pot: Since you gave me that there dollar I never will again. Iant because you send the cash to furnish paper men. And as for Cousin Willie Winn, that buck he'll never get. For I am mighty thirsty and this here town is wet. I've paid in full my laundry bill, I've dined a couple times or two, in luxury I've rolled. It's mighty nice to hear the wolf no more howl at your door. I tell you folks, it's mighty tough to be so dog-gone poor. I thank I got me for his plea in my behalf, if he can raise the car fare to come down the treat will be on me. Altho' I think he would have liked to see me get the dollar. Where the chicken got the hatchet, in other words, the collar. Still his words were quite effective on the chilly hearted Ed. Who didn't send the cash away, but gave it me instead. My friends in the State Hospital, over in Columbus town Will all be mighty glad to hear I've pulled a fortune down. As for smothering up the Melting Pot, I'll never do that trick. I don't regret the slamm'n', but I've thrown away the money. So feed not brother poets, I'll not bust up the game. Now that I've won the dollar and am on the road to fame, I'm going to lead a peaceful life and all the hard work here. But from following Mr. Shakespeare's lead I'm going to retire "Willie."

Most Effective Remedy Mother Had Ever Used

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin Relieves
Baby When Other Medicines Failed.

There is nothing so necessary to a child's health and comfort as regularity of the bowels. All children are especially susceptible to stomach ailments and any overstrain of the organs has a tendency to elimination. This condition is responsible for much of the childhood.

Constipation a mild laxative employed. Cathartics are violent, in should be avoided. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the most effective remedy she has ever used for her baby. Little Earl was badly constipated during his first year and nothing she tried seemed to help him until she got a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Now he is a fine, strong, healthy boy, and she thanks Dr. Caldwell for it.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, free from opiates or narcotic drugs; it acts gently without griping or other discomfort, and appeals to children because of its pleasant taste. Druggists, everywhere sell it for fifty cents a bottle, and every mother should have it in the house for use whenever occasion arises.

To avoid imitations and ineffective substitutes always be sure to ask for Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. See that a facsimile of Dr. Caldwell's signature and his portrait appear on the yellow carton in which the bottle is packed. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 455 Washington St., Mountcello, Illinois.

Just Outside Her Window.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

HOW A BIRD GOT A DRINKING CUP

[Adapted from Hans Christian Andersen]

SOON as daddy had his dinner he took Jack and Evelyn on his lap and told them this: "Once a bottle fell out of a balloon and smashed to pieces, all except its neck. It fell into the back yard of a big house full of poor people, and the man in the basement picked it up.

"This would make a fine drinking fountain for a bird," said he. But he had no cage and no bird. But the old maid who lived on the top floor had a bird that had no cup to drink out of. So the man in the basement put a cork in the bottle neck and gave it to the old maid. She filled the bottle neck with nice fresh water and tied it on to her birdcage, where a linnet sang merrily in spite of poverty.

"You may well sing," the bottle neck said to the linnet, "for you have no broken bones in your body."

"The bottle neck was looked upon by all the people in the big house as a great curiosity because it had been up in a balloon. Nothing more was known about it. Even the old maid did not know that it was the same bottle which her lover had tossed high in the air at their betrothal years and years ago.

"So there our bottle neck hung high in the sunshine on a birdcage, and down below sounded the rumble of the streets.

"Then one day there came to visit the old maid one of the girls who had once been at the picnic, but who was now old too.

"Certainly you must not spend 5 shillings for a bridal bouquet for your daughter," said the old maid.

"I cannot well afford to," replied her guest.

"I will give you a beauty filled with blossoms," cried the old maid. "See, here is my myrtle, growing on the window sill. It is a cutting from the plant you gave me the day my sailor lover and I were betrothed. I was to carry it at my wedding, but my sailor never came back from his long trip. But your tree grew, and as it grew older along with me and finally began to droop I cut this slip from it, which has grown into a beautiful big plant. So now it may go to a wedding, after all! You shall have it for your daughter's wedding bouquet."

"But the nicest relic of all her betrothal day memories lay just outside her window, and the old maid never knew it. The sunshine sparkled on its glassy neck, and the linnet sang sweetly. But the bottle neck did not even listen to what she was saying to her friend, because it was thinking of itself," daddy finished, with two hugs.

Law Against Cricket.

Until a century and a half ago England's great national pastime figured in the statute books as a crime. The game was declared illegal in the time of Edward IV., owing to its having become so popular as to interfere with archery, the then sport of kings. The law against it was vigorously enforced, and every person convicted of playing the game was fined £10 or sent to prison. It was not until the formation of the famous Hambledon club in 1749 that the statute was repealed.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Cart and Horse.

A certain man, being much vexed by politicians, made bold at length to speak his mind.

"You put the cart before the horse," he insisted. "No man ought to belong to a party. The party is a mere convenience, and it ought to belong to the man, like any other convenience, to serve him as it may or give way to something else as it may not."

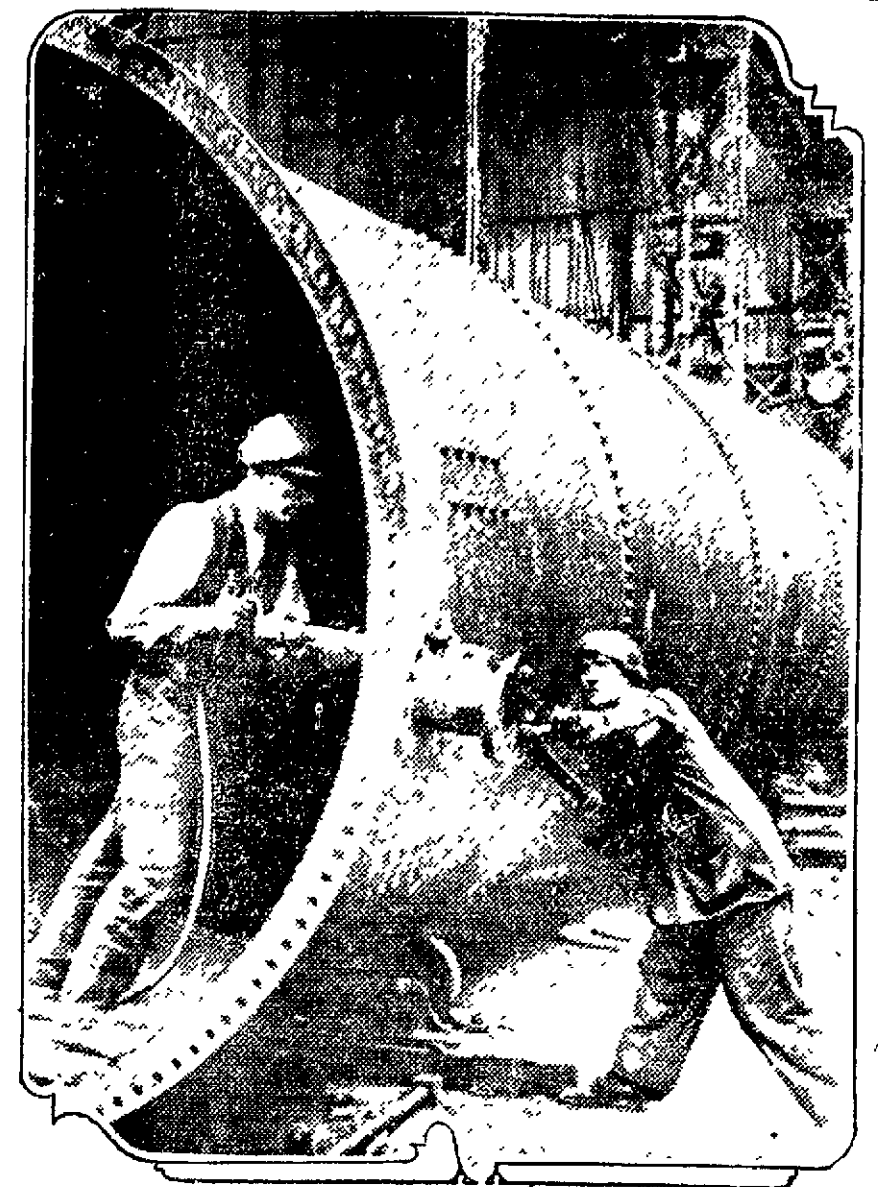

But the politicians hadn't been in the business all these years for nothing. They were by no means to be talked out of a good thing. "We confront a condition and not a theory," they made answer. "The horse is so used to working that way he doesn't know there's any other."—New York Post.

Today's Aid to Beauty

An especially fine shampoo for this weather, one that dissolves and entirely removes all dandruff, excess oil and dirt, can easily be made at trifling expense by simply dissolving a teaspoonful of cantarox in a cup of hot water. Pour slowly on scalp and massage briskly. This creates a soothing, cooling lather. Rinsing leaves the scalp spotlessly clean, soft and pliant, while the hair takes on the glossy richness of natural color, also a fluffiness which makes it seem much heavier than it is. After a cantarox shampoo arranging the hair is a pleasure.—Advertisement.

SHOULDER TO SHOULDER WOMEN AND MEN WORK IN BRITISH INDUSTRIES

Two types of boilermakers—the old and the new.

As a rule boilermakers are not considered ladylike, but this plucky woman has thrown tradition to the winds and entered on a career in a boiler factory in Glasgow. Clad in working togs deserted by a husky boilermaker when the call to the colors sent him to the front, she is shown in this picture working a hydraulic riveter, assisted by a man.

GRANDMOTHER'S MEDICINE

Our grandmothers were wise in the virtues of the herbs of the field. They used to gather and store roots and herbs and use them to cure the ailments of their families—worm-camomile, thoroughwort, sage, rue, Camomile—the list might go on and on of the healing plants with which they made us familiar.

Now their grand-daughters get the extracts from just such good old roots and herbs, from the nearest druggist, ready prepared for use. One such medicine, which women find best for their own ailments, is the well-known Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. —Advertisement.

Nerves Mended With Jelly.

Dr. L. Edinger, a famous nerve specialist of Frankfurt, Germany, has devised a method of making nerves that have been severed grow together again. The Scientific American quotes an address delivered by him before the Deutsche Orthopaedische Gesellschaft, in which he described his success with this method, a success that no other has been able to claim. Dr. Edinger fills animal arteries with a special gelatin, cuts away the severed part of the nerve and inserts the upper and lower ends of the severed nerve into the artery filled with gelatin. The separated ends of the nerve grow together with astonishing rapidity through this gelatin.

Bachelors and Longevity.

The question of the relative value of marriage and single blessedness in regard to long life has often engaged the attention of scientific men. Some years ago M. Bertillon produced a set of figures on the subject, and "the result of all calculations is that from twenty-five to thirty years of age the mortality per 1,000 is 4 in married men and 10.4 in bachelors." Statistics of that kind, I fear, are of little value when we remember that it is the man who is better off and physically strong who gets married. The cynical view of the real position is of course that the married man does not live longer—it only seems longer to him.—Westminster Gazette.

Hard to Kill.

Penguins have an extraordinary amount of vitality and are harder to kill than any ordinary cat. A writer once had occasion to kill a large bird aboard his ship, the Southern Cross, and, making use of the weapon next to his hand, he drove a large spike squarely through the creature's head and finished the operation by nailing it fast to the deck. That seemed to make the job very complete, and he went below decks for dinner. Coming up an hour later, his astonishment was prodigious on beholding the penguin, head erect, flippers out, waddling about, apparently without a thought of the spike, which still remained transfixed in his cranium.

Powerful Effect.

"The people who preach economy for others sometimes have to turn in and practice economy for themselves," said a railroad man. "I once asked a business man:

"Well, George, did you read your wife that lecture on economy you said you were going to?"

"Yep," George granted, with a gesture of disgust.

"Have any effect?" said I.

"I sure did," said George. "I've bought myself a safety razor, cut out cigars in favor of a pipe and had last season's suit cleaned so as to make it see me through this year."—Washington Star.

An Old Drought Cure.

An old time specific for drought was simple enough. It was only necessary to burn fern. An interesting reference to this belief occurs in a manuscript letter preserved in the Pococke collection in the British Museum. It is dated Aug. 1, 1836. It runs: "To My Very Loving Friend, the High Sheriff of the County of Stafford—Sir: His majesty, having taken notice of an opinion entertained in Staffordshire that the burning of fern doth draw down rain and being desirous that the country and himself may enjoy fair weather as long as he remains in those parts, hath commanded me to write unto you to cause all burning of fern to be forborne."—London Spectator.

Like a Circus.

Mr. S. had a peculiarly irritating sneeze. It began with a complex and terrifying series of facial convulsions, but instead of concluding with the roar of a shot lion it ended with a most lame paroxysm that always disappointed the expectant observer.

"Your sneeze," said a friend after watching him through one of his sternerations, "is a regular circus."

"A circus?" said Mr. S.

"Yes, sir," was the rejoinder. "The performance never comes up to the advance notices."—Cleveland Leader.

A Greater Attraction.

Herr Harden told of a meeting at Gasteln between William I. and Francis Joseph. The Austrian sovereign commented impatiently on the too pressing attentions of the crowd. SURPRISE

SPRUNG BY BRITISH IN ATTACK IN ANCRE VALLEY WHERE 4000 GERMANS CAPTURED

Teutons' Breakfast Eaten by British Soldiers While Prisoners Were Being Sent to the Rear.

(Copyright, 1916 by The Associated Press.)

With the British Army in France, Nov. 13, via London, Nov. 14.—The Germans were apparently completely surprised by this morning's attack in the valley of the Ancre. An evidence of this was found in the fact that the garrison of the trenches around Beaumont Hamel were preparing for breakfast at the very moment when the British infantry stormed the position. The British, after partially clearing the underground galleries and rounding up 700 prisoners, proceeded to eat their prisoners' breakfast, telling the captives that they would be fed when they arrived within the British lines. A total of nearly 4,000 prisoners has so far been sent to the cages, including a regimental commander, who was captured in a dug-out with a major, an adjutant and a number of other officers. The majority of the prisoners are Silesians, and according to the British officers very inferior fighting material. The German higher command depended apparently on the supposedly impenetrable character of the old front line and its strongly fortified villages rather than on the stamina of the troops. The British officers believe that the Germans withdrew their best men for service elsewhere on the British front, where the new and shallower position to which the defenders have been forced demand greater resisting power on the part of the infantry.

The British losses were unusually light owing largely to the unexpectedly feeble character of the German machine gun fire at Beaumont-Hamel and St. Pierre Division. Large numbers of German dead were found strewn in the wrecked trenches of the original main line. This line consisted of four parallel roads of trenches, the last being flush with the western face of Beaumont Hamel.

For some days past, the sector attacked today and the area behind have been subjected to successive bombardments which rose to a record pitch yesterday and resulted in the demolition of a large part of the defenses. The garrison accepted the morning's deluge of shells as part of the usual daily program and did not fully realize their danger until the British infantry was seen approaching in the darkness.

The British advance north of Beaumont Hamel was held up on a front about 1,000 yards west of Serre. The first detachment captured some German trenches and passed eastward toward the village. Suddenly, hidden machine guns and infantry snipers scattered in great profusion in the craters and other shelters began firing in the backs of the attacking troops and necessitated their withdrawal. North of Serre the British gained ground but, owing to the failure of the advance immediately south, the position is being subjected to an enfilading fire from higher ground in the neighborhood of the village. A number of isolated pockets are being cleared of Germans in the intervening ground between Beaumont-Hamel and Beaumont-Sur-Ancre. The British are firmly established on the western outskirts of the latter hamlet. The remaining fragments of the old German line immediately south of the Ancre, which were "pinched out" by the British flank pivoting to the northeast around the elbow of the stream had been partially isolated since the capture of Schwaben redoubt. Three hundred Germans, the only survivors of the bombardment, were captured in this extensive system of riverside caves. Prior to the attack the only communication between these caves and the German rear was by a causeway across the Ancre which could only be traversed at night.

FIRST SNOW OF WINTER COVERED GROUND TODAY

A "wet" snow began falling shortly after midnight and this morning the ground was slightly covered with a coating of the beautiful. It did not stay long, however, owing to the damp condition of the ground. This morning was the coldest of the season, the thermometer reading 28 at 5:00 a. m. At 7:00 o'clock it showed a rising temperature reading 32 degrees, remaining there for several hours. More snow is promised today with colder weather and probably fair weather Thursday.

Bigelow Council No. 7 R. & S. M. will hold the last rehearsal of the Super Excellent degree this evening at 7:30 o'clock sharp.

It is important that every one be present and on time as it is the desire of the Council that the candidates coming from Coshocton be given the work the best it has ever been put on. And there is no reason why it can not be put on the best it has ever been done if you will but come to rehearsal.

From the sample of the work put on the floor last evening there is no doubt but that it can be done right. But come and assure the Council that it will be assisting in the work.

Remember to be at the Temple tonight at 7:30 sharp. It is the last opportunity, don't put it off but come.

OUR ARGUMENT FOR RAISE OF ADMISSION

It has been our policy to maintain a clean class of photoplays. You and I both realize that the Motion Picture market is flooded with a lot of cheap, undesirable junk, which is not fit to be exhibited and unworthy of the name Photoplays.

We shun this class of shows, notwithstanding that we could purchase them for only a small percentage of the cost of Paramount features, but we want a class of pictures that are worthy of production.

We have secured the highest class of Photoplays. We can personally guarantee to you their sterling quality. You need have no fear of being offended, nor to have any fears about bringing your sons and daughters, your sweethearts or wives to the Alhambra. You will find our shows provide a refined, inspiring entertainment and well worth double our flat rate of admission of 10c. Consequently we feel that you will agree with us that the slight increase from five and ten cents to a standard admission of 10 cents is absolutely justified and warranted. The same is with us.

“I CAN FEEL THIS PART,” SAYS ALICE BRADY

Accustomed to Guiding Her Own Affairs, She Finds It Easy to Command in Play.

The scene depicted below shows one of the “big” moments in the new Alice Brady story, “The Gilded Cage.” Even though she may be in a “cage,” the inborn authority to command is very quickly in evidence when the Baron Stefano, as played by Montague Love, oversteps the duties of his office and tries to pay undesirable attentions to his queen, Miss Brady.

Her work in the very early part of the story makes us doubtful whether or not she will be able to accept the responsibilities which are thrust upon her by the death of her parents. Her change from the sweet, innocent, care-free girl at school, to the kind yet firm ruler of a nation, almost overnight, is a standing tribute to her versatility. Later in the story, when she pleads for her lover's life, her work is the best she has ever done either before the camera or on the stage.

Consider that the lover is Irving Cummings and you will not doubt say knowingly, “Who wouldn't plead for HIS life?” He makes an exceptionally striking appearance in uniform and related an amusing little incident that occurred while out on location.

Miss Brady, clad in the peasant girl costume she assumes when she goes among her people, in the story, was awaiting the approach of her supposed peasant lover, the camera clicked merrily—when instead of her lover she is confronted by the covetous prime minister. As he began to make advances to her, and it was very evident from her manner that she did not care for his attentions, a small red-headed boy who

TO OUR PATRONS.

Months and months ago, when wheat began going up, your grocer and mine told us that flour had advanced in price. Then along came other articles advancing in price. Butter went up. Corn advanced. Wool went up in price and your merchant and mine had to charge us more for clothes.

Wages and salaries of great artists have likewise gone to tremendous heights. It is said Marguerite Clark commands and is paid several thousand dollars per week. Pauline Frederick's salary runs into the fabulous. Marie Doro, Blanche Sweet, George Beban, Lenore Ulrich, Vivian Martin, Mae Murray, Ann Pennington and scores of others receive large salaries.

Thus you can readily appreciate how the price of good photoplays such as Paramount, have advanced and you can therefore appreciate how justifiable our position is in making a flat price of admission of ten cents for all patrons.

had been “eating it all up” emitted a peculiar half whistle, half call, and the next moment the valiant villain was scurrying down the road with a shaggy red-brown dog manfully clinging to his coat-tails.

It was a difficult matter to satisfactorily explain to the boy that Miss Brady really didn't need his protection—that it was only acting.

To all their explanations he offered about the same type of reply, “G'wan! De goil wuz half skered to death. I could see it in her face.” And so realistic is Miss Brady's work in this piece that you also will be positive that she isn't acting but really feels everything she pretends to feel. “THE HEIR OF THE HOORAH.”

The two brilliant screen stars, Thomas Meighan and Anita King, will be seen at the Alhambra on Monday and Tuesday in the Jesse L. Lasky production for the Paramount Program of “The Heir to the Hoorah,” a photoplay written especially for them by Beatrice C. DeMille and Leighton Odum from the Paul Armstrong dramatization of the famous play which was produced by the Kirk La Shelle Company.

Thomas Meighan has long been a star in his own right but heretofore he has been engaged by the Lasky Company to play as leading man for some of the most noted stars in the country, including Blanche Sweet, Marie Doro, Charlotte Walker and others.

In co-starring him with the versatile and beautiful Anita King, the Lasky Company feels that it has effected a combination that will prove most popular to photodramatic audiences. For some time the organization has been hunting for a suitable vehicle for these stars, and finally ally secured the photodramatic rights to this famous play.

Mr. Meighan, before he signed a long term contract with the Lasky Company, was one of the country's most popular dramatic actors, scoring his great success in “Just Out of College,” and concluding his stage career as the attorney for the defense in “On Trial,” a play which ran for nearly two years in New York City.

Anita King recently appeared in support of Theodore Roberts in “Anton the Terrible,” and also scored a great success in the thrilling drama, “The Race,” founded on her famous transcontinental automobile trip.

The story, “The Heir to the Hoorah,” has to do with three miners who own the richest mine in California. They decide that they must have an heir to whom they may leave their wealth, and the youngest is elected to marry. In the meantime a mercenary society woman, desiring that her daughter should make a wealthy marriage, arranges a meeting with the wealthy miner, which eventually ends in their wedding. How the scheming mother-in-law separates the two and how they are finally brought together, is shown in a number of unusual incidents.

In the cast supporting Mr. Meighan and Miss King are such well known artists as Horace B. Carpenter, Ernest Joy, Edythe Chapman, Little Billy Jacobs and others.

EARL WILLIAMS STARRED IN “THE SCARLET RUNNER”

Vitaphone Presents Famous Screen
Star in Twelve Cylindrical
Motor Series.

After months of hard labor and much preparation the Vitaphone Company presents their famous star, Earl Williams, in the mile-a-minute motor series entitled, “The Scarlet Runner,” which they release through the exchange of the V.L.S.E.

The story is from the pens of C. N. and A. M. Williamson, two of the best story tellers of the day. In fact it is from their popular novel of the same name which was first presented to the public through the Strand Magazine of London. Such excitement did this story create that the authors decided to release it in book form, and it has been considered one of the best sellers on the market ever since.

Under the direction of William P. Earle and Wally Van, Mr. Williams is more attractive than ever before in the role of a young Englishman who, in order to inherit his uncle's enormous fortune, must support himself and save a certain amount of money within a year. The experiences which he enjoys when he sells all he has and purchases a speedy automobile, “The Scarlet Runner,” are sure to please.

The story is released in twelve episodes of two parts each. Every episode is a separate and complete story so that one may start at any time and still not lose interest.

The titles of the different episodes are: “The Car and His Majesty,” “The Masqued Ball,” “The Hidden Prince,” “The Jacobean House,” “The Nuremberg Watch,” “The Mysterious Motor Car,” “The Red-Whiskered Man,” “The Glove and the Ring,” “The Gold Cigarette Case,” “The Lost Girl,” “The Missing Chapter” and “The Car and the Girl.”

In almost every instance the leading lady is different in every episode, and it seems that each one is more beautiful than the one before.

Some of the feminine stars who add their attractiveness to this feature serial are: Edith Storey, Adele Kelly, Billie Hollings, Gypsy O'Brien, Zena, Jean Stuart, Betty Howe, Lillian Tucker, Peggy Blake and Louise Valente.

The first episode, “The Car and His Majesty,” which introduces Earl Williams as “Crimloph,” “Percy,” the character he “lives” throughout and “The Scarlet Runner,” will be shown at the Alhambra Theatre Wednesday and Thursday, November 15th and 16th.

“THE SOUL OF KURA-SAN.”
The brilliant Japanese actor, Sessue Hayakawa, supported by Myrtle Stedman, the clever Pallas-Morosco star, will be seen at the Alhambra on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 17 and 18, in the Jesse L. Lasky production of “The Soul of Kura-San.”

an unusual drama written especially for them by Frances Guibau and prepared for the Paramount program by Charles Saylor.

That this is a happy combination of artists, there can be no doubt. Sessue Hayakawa, who scored his great success in “The Cheat,” followed by “Alien Souls,” and “The Honorable Friend,” has established himself as one of the leading actors of the screen, and the versatile Myrtle Stedman, who recently scored such a success in “An American Beauty,” is one of the most popular stars in the screen world.

The name part of this production is played by Tsuru Aoki, the dainty Japanese actress who made herself so popular in “Alien Souls” and “The Honorable Friend.” Many of the scenes in this photodrama were laid in Japan—others in a New York studio, and the final and most dramatic scenes between Mr. Hayakawa and Miss Stedman occur in a beautiful Long Island country home.

The story has to do with the adventures and tribulations of two poor Japanese lovers. They are not able to marry, so decide to commit “shinju,” which is double suicide, but when Hayakawa is offered a position in America they decide to wait until he has acquired enough money to return for his bride.

How Kura-San is wronged by an American artist, and how her sweet heart rescues himself on the artist's intended American bride, goes to make a story swift in its action, unusual in its theme and startling in its originality.

The cast in Japan were made by the members of Mr. Hayakawa's stock company. In a recent winter spent in America, they decided to wait until he has acquired enough money to return for his bride.

The production was made for the Lasky Company under the personal supervision of Edward J. Lasky, and presented in a universal standard Lasky manner. The Japanese exterior and interiors being especially noticeable for their beauty.

ALHAMBRA TONIGHT.

Little Billy Jacobs, the clever five-year-old actor of the Lasky company, will appear as a member of the supporting company of Thomas Meighan and Anita King in the Paramount picture, “The Heir to the Hoorah,” which will be seen at the Alhambra theatre tonight. Billy is a stickler for details. In one scene he has to climb up on Mr. Meighan's shoulder and tell a story about a bear, to Mr. Meighan and Miss King. Billy was told the story and then told what to do. William De Mille, the director, set the camera to grinding and Billy came running into the scene, climbed up on Mr. Meighan's shoulder, according to instructions. Then Mr. De Mille called out: “Now, Billy, tell them about the bear.” Billy stopped, looked at Mr. De Mille, and said: “We will have to do that again, because by the time I climb up here I am all out of breath and can't tell about the bear.” It was then arranged so that Billy would have his full vocal power by the time he was on Mr. Meighan's shoulder.

ALHAMBRA WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY.

There were rumors of a uprising. The young queen had not brought about much change in the conduct of the official household. The extravagance had continued to eat up the revenue raised by the heavy tax. The people were protesting and demanding that something be done for their relief. These rumors reached the girl-queen. Clad in the garb of a peasant she went among her people during their big fair and found

Interested? You'll be more so when you see Alice Brady as the queen, and with your own eyes are able to view all the suffering she has to endure, merely because she was born to wear a crown. The title of the play is “The Gilded Cage,” and the management of the Alhambra theatre is anticipating a capacity audience when it will be playing there Wednesday and Thursday.

The Easiest Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

In morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

THE WEDDING OF ROMEO AND JULIET

Among the many impressive scenes in the elaborate screen production of "Romeo and Juliet," in which Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne, the foremost stellar combination in motion pictures, are starred, is the wedding of the famous lovers in Friar Laurence's cell. Every detail has been carefully worked out for this scene, as it was throughout the entire eight parts of this marvelous production. Robert Cummings plays the role of Friar Laurence. He has been associated with Mr. Bushman and Miss Bayne in many previous features on the Metro program, and was among the first cast for a part in "Romeo and Juliet," in which more than six hundred players appear.

Amusements

AUDITORIUM.

"The Pacemakers" was the attraction at the Auditorium yesterday, matinee and evening. There were a number of clever stunts introduced during the action of the operetta, which was in two acts, chief of which was La Bergere in poses, in which she was assisted by three clever dogs, two pointers and a collie. It was one of the classic acts of its kind seen here in some time. The chorus and principals were equal to the average Monday Wheel show.

Romeo and Juliet.
The Auditorium will offer today and tomorrow the great Metro eight massive act photoplay "Romeo and Juliet." The scenes are wonderful and over 600 artists are seen in this William Shakespeare's most beautiful story.

With the splendor and solemn pomp accorded the wealthy and the noble during the thirteenth century.

PHILADELPHIA ORCHESTRA.

Not since the first production in America of Wagner's festival drama, "Parsifal," has a musical event attracted more attention or a more brilliant audience than the first hearing in New York City of Gustav Mahler's Eighth Symphony, played by the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, Leopold Stokowski, conducting at the Metropolitan. Paderewski, Gubrilowitch, Bauer, Casals, Granger, Yolanda Mero, Julia Culp, Geraldine Farrar, Frank and Walter Damrosch and scores of other equally famous musicians were to be seen in the audience.

It remained for Leopold Stokowski and his wonderful orchestra to "pull off" the biggest musical sensation of the season of 1915-1916, when he produced this symphony in Philadelphia prior to his visit to New York.

The Metropolitan Opera house was crowded. At the conclusion of this great work Mr. Stokowski was cheered to the echo. He conducted the entire work without a score.

This wonderful aggregation of talent "The Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra," will be the second attraction in Miss Kate Lacey's Quality Series, in Memorial Hall, Columbus, November 20th. Single seat sale Nov. 17th, Box Office Chamber of Commerce.

National Association of Baseball Leagues Open Annual Meeting Today At New Orleans.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

New Orleans, La., Nov. 14.—The National Association of baseball leagues met in annual session here today with the owners and officials of minor and major league baseball clubs and delegates from throughout the country in attendance. The meeting will continue through Thursday.

Among the important questions expected to come up for decision were the new demands of the Baseball Players' Fraternity, including one relating to contracts covering the clubs' control over injured players. Other matters to be discussed included the relations between players and minor league clubs contracts, schedules, classifications and releases.

President H. M. Sexton, of the association was unable to attend because of illness in his family and in his stead Vice President M. M. Byrne presided.

The annual report submitted by John H. Farrell, showed that twenty-six league organizations, embracing 132 cities and towns in the United States and Canada and employing 4,728 players during the playing season if 1916, had qualified for membership.

Only one qualified member of the National Association disbanded during the last playing season—a class D league. Out of the twenty-six leagues, twenty-five started and twenty-three finished; one league was disqualified. The Canadian league did not operate, on account of the war conditions. The attendance at the meeting was a whole exceeded by that of the 1915 record.

Fifty-nine optional agreements were exercised by national association clubs and 121 by minor leagues. Players reported for release numbered 2,651; for suspension, 590; for reinstatement, 158. Twenty drafts were disallowed and cancelled. The total number of disputed cases handled during the current year was 559 and $24,663 was collected in players' claims and territorial claims and paid to them without cost of any kind. Only six claims were filed by the players' fraternity.

The National League drafted twenty-five players, the American League nineteen and the National Association fifty-five. Including money refunded for National association drafts, the National League paid $37,500; American league $22,000; National association, $22,500; a total of $82,000. The sum of $9,000 was paid on optional agreements between National association clubs and $6,200 on options exercised by minor league clubs from minors for fifty-nine players.

The amount paid for release by purchase from National association clubs was $1,521. The sum received for drafted players, optional agreement players for re-release by purchase players was $134,581 and for options exercised by minors from minors, $20,400. In addition the National association clubs purchased from major league clubs by optional agreement and out right sale 506 players for $1,805,000. A large budget of disputed cases will be decided by the national board of arbitration during the meeting in New Orleans. Applications for holding next year's annual meetings were received from New York, Chicago, Atlantic City, Boston, Buffalo, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Nashville and Springfield, Mass.

Opening of the Bowser Culture Institute Takes Place Tonight

The Newark Physical Culture Institute, will throw open its doors in the Music Hall building tonight under the management of Paul Bowser, the popular middleweight wrestling champion. The general public is invited to visit Bowser's new gymnasium for its inspection.

A full and up to date gym equipment has been installed by Mr. Bowser and already a number of members have been secured for the institute. Boys ranging in ages from seven years old to 65 years old will be admitted to membership.

An attendant will be placed in charge of the gym and will check clothing and furnish members with all the conveniences of the club. It is expected to keep the gym open between the hours of 10:00 a. m. to 10:30 p. m. "There will be every kind of strong device for making the body strong and the mind clear," Mr. Bowser said today, thus assuring all who join the school of getting value received.

Considerable payers are found in only three places—Yellowstone park, Iceland and New Zealand. Those in our own world are the finest in the world.

The Chinese had compasses long before the Europeans, using them, as men do today, in the steering of ships. European sailors began using compasses in about the year 1390.

GREAT SHOW FOR THURSDAY NIGHT AT AUDITORIUM

Bowser Meets Unknown in Main Bout While Metro Clashes With Young Gotch of Columbus.

Local wrestling fans are looking forward with pleasure to the double attraction at the Auditorium theatre, Thursday night, when Paul Bowser, world's middleweight champion meets Billy Schrober's Unknown in the main event of the evening and Charles Metro, the "Terrible Turk" of Boston, meets Al Hart (Young Gotch) of Columbus, in the semi-final.

Both Bowser and Metro have been training hard each day for their engagements and will be in the pink of condition when time is called for the bouts. In the Metro-Gotch match, which will probably be a 30-minute limit affair, the fans will have an opportunity of sizing up the Columbus grappler and determining whether he is classy enough to meet the pride of Newark.

Gotch is a rough and bang style of wrestler, but Metro is confident he can turn the trick and send Gotch home satisfied that he is not good enough to meet Bowser. But whoever wins the go is going to be the best semi-final ever staged here.

Little is known of Schrober's "unknown" other than the man is one of the best middleweights in the country and capable of giving Bowser a stiff argument. Many of the "Unknown's" supporters claim their man will walk away with Thursday night's bout, while Bowser is confident he will win.

There is a possibility of Schrober and Bowser meeting in a go in the near future and Thursday night's match will give the Indianapolis man a line of the champion. Paul will try to dispose of the "Unknown" without tipping his favorite holds, but if the occasion demands it, he will uncork all he has to win.

The advance sale of seats indicates another large crowd will see the show, which gives promise of being one of the best of the season.

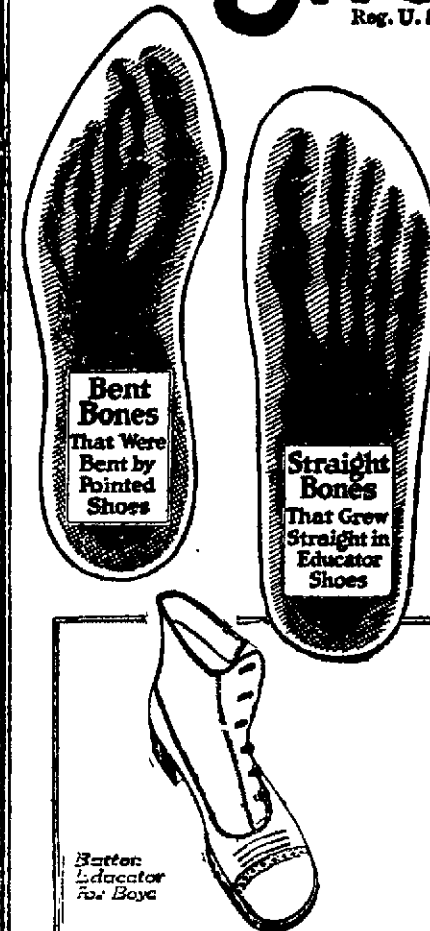

Bowling Alleys at Music Hall Are Overhauled

The Music Hall bowling alleys have been overhauled by an expert and are now in splendid condition. Proprietor Herman O'Shaughnessy states that he has purchased new balls and bowling equipment and is bound to give his patrons the best that can be procured. A professional will have charge of the alleys and the season will open tonight with several match games. Schedules will be arranged for teams desiring games and courteous treatment will be accorded all bowlers.

OUR COUNTY FAIRS

Their Origin Traced to Habits of Primitive Man.

BORN IN THE DAYS OF BARTER.

These Exhibitions, Typical of Their Times, Ever New, Yet as Old as India, Have Been Popular Among All Peoples and in Every Climate.

The county fair is an institution as old as India and as new as today. If anybody supposes that manufacturing has dulled the rustic flavor of the New England fair let him go to a New England fair and learn his mistake.

The fair grounds are thronged with the characters of a rural drama multiplied by 5,000. They have come in every vehicle from touring car to democrat wagon—the whole family, from dim eyed grandmother to bright eyed baby. The old folks are engrossed in prize stock, the young folks in one another. Any one who cannot see a hundred country courtships at a county fair must be blind.

Did any one suppose the fair had lost the luster of its pristine glory?
All wrong. It is bigger and better than ever. The cows are sleeker, the bulls more Romanly majestic, the stations prouder, the hogs fatter, the sheep shaggier. The farm machinery grows more intricate and fascinating.
The motorcar does not seem to have robbed horse racing of its thrills any more than the human race seems to tire of plugging baseballs at the kinky skull of "the Abyssinian marvel."

In the midst of all this excitement it suddenly dawns on one that the human race never tires of fairs. They are as old as human society. The fair is the place where primitive man came to swap wheat for furs, dried dates for woven cloth. The fair is the Mossom of a commercial society. It is the bartering place between men who produce different sorts of commodities. In Russia the huge fairs are the big business days of the year. In parts of northern Asia the fair is the only market.

Oddly enough, religion and commerce have always gone hand in hand at the fair. The Olympic games of ancient Greece were almost as much a commercial as a religious event. In ancient Italy the annual assembly at the temple of Voltumna was as much fair as feast. The temple of Jerusalem itself on one occasion proved to have become almost as much a place of barter and sale as a house of worship.

In medieval Europe the king granted to the abbots, bishops and other ecclesiastical dignitaries the right to manage the fairs and to exact tolls from the trade, which amounted to a temporary monopoly. When the bishop of Winchester held his fair in England, for example, everybody else was obliged to shut up shop and trade at the fair. This "holy day" association remains in the German word for fair,
"messe" and in the Britany word
"kirmis," or "church mass."

No one seems to know whether people first came together to worship and then decided to trade or whether they came together to trade and then decided to worship.

The great medieval fairs were swept away in the eighteenth century—in France by the revolution, which abolished such ecclesiastical monopolies, while in England the fairs were abolished by an odd combination of good roads and bad morals. The good roads made intercommunication easier, and the low moral tone of the fairs brought them into disrepute.

Yet the fair is a mirror of the society which produces it. Compare the Olympic games with a county fair. The chariot race becomes the trotting race,
the rhapsodist chanting the Homeric poems becomes the barker bawling the ballyhoo; the statues of Phidias become the exhibition of fancy needlework; the rite of human sacrifice (supposing there is one) becomes the balloon ascension and parachute jump or the aviator looping the loop, and the stately dramas of Aeschylus, Sophocles and Euripides become the midway sideshowes of "Glimpses in the Harem."

But we can do better than that. The germ cell of the modern city is the fair. When John Bunyan resolved to military British society in "Pilgrim's Progress" he invented "Vanity Fair."
More than a century later, when Thackeray tackled the same job in one of the greatest of English novels,
he borrowed that title from Bunyan.

Literature abounds in fairs. The opera without a "kirmis" scene is only half an opera. The reason is that the fair is a miniature of human society;
it is to the great city as a potted plant
is to a tree.

So we have our food fairs, trade
fairs and every few years our world fairs. Fairs in one form or another human society will continue to have for the simple reason that from the holy fairs of India to the county fair of the United States the fair is human society.—Boston Globe.

Joyous Tidings.
"Charley, dear," said young Mrs.
Torkins, "I have good news."

"What is it?"

"The bank sent me word that my account is overdrawn. I looked in the synonym book and found that 'overdrawn' is the same as 'exaggerated.'"

FOR ELIMINATION OF R. R. CROSSING

A petition was filed in the office of the county commissioners today by 27 land owners along the Mt. Vernon road and vicinity, praying that the board take action on straightening county highway No. 337, through Newark township.

The land in question parallels the B & O. railroad north of this city and the straightening of same would mean the elimination of two dangerous grade crossings. If the improvement is granted the cost of same it is said would have to be borne by the county and the railroad company.

The state highway department has also informed the county commissioners that no state aid for improvements on the Mt. Vernon road would be granted until the road is straightened. If that is done the state will proceed at once with improving that thoroughfare by building a paved road to the Dry creek bridge.

LOST PURSE WAS RETURNED; MONEY
AND RING SAFE

Last evening a patron of the Grand theatre picked up a pocketbook near the center of the house and upon opening it discovered that it contained a diamond ring and a roll of bills. He took the same to the box office and handed it to Manager Abe Thomas, remarking, "I found this on the inside under a seat." He then hurried away without leaving his name or address.

Mr. Thomas examined the pocketbook and found that it contained a diamond ring worth at least a handsome sum of money, a roll of bills and a street address but no name. Mr. Thomas walked to the street address through the rain last night after closing his house but the inmates had retired and he waited until this morning when he returned, but the occupant, Mrs. Margaret Hammond, was down street in the business district, and Mr. Thomas left word with a neighbor that her pocketbook had been found. Later he met Mrs. Hammond on the street and handed her property. She was overjoyed in recovering her property and having it found by an honest man.

All Candidates Must Report On the Cost of Campaign

All candidates at the late election, whether successful or not, must file their expense account with Clerk of the Election Board M. J. Reese, not later than Friday night. The law explicitly states that all candidates must file expense accounts not later than 10 days after the election. The attorney general has authorized Clerk Reese to report all delinquents in the matter to his office. He will then instruct the county prosecutor to bring action against all delinquents, and the penalty is very severe. Clerk Reese has the necessary blanks and they can be procured at his office, 1097 Trust building.

STUBBORN ECZEMA
HEALED BY AMOLOX

The New Discovery for the Relief and Cure for Chronic Skin Diseases.

We are daily receiving letters of praise from people who have been cured by Amolox. Many of them tell how, for years, they have tried different remedies and doctors in the vain effort to find relief. Some become discouraged and lose all hope of ever being cured. E. J. Evers, 187 Sycamore St., Mansfield, O., writes: "Our baby's face was covered with scumma scales, sores and scabs. She was a terrible sight. We tried everything. Took her to Pittsburg doctors but were unable to find any relief until we used Amolox. It cured her within a short time."

Amolox Ointment alone will quickly banish pimples, blackheads and take out all blemishes of the skin and cure most forms of skin disease. Bad, chronic cases of Eczema, Psoriasis, Tetter, that have lasted for years, will move quickly when both ointment and liquid are used. Trial size 50c. T. J. Evers' drug store, of Newark, guarantees Amolox, and will refund the money if it fails to give satisfaction.

Names of Flowers.

The camellia was named from a missionary in the orient, Kamel. On his return to France he brought with him some gorgeous specimens of a flower which he called the rose of Japan. His friends, however, gave it his name and called it camellia. Dahlias were brought from Peru by one Andre Dahl. Fuchsias were named for their discoverer, Leonard Fuchs. Magnolias received the name of Professor Magnol de Montpellier, who first brought the beautiful trees from Asia and America to France. Lavender is so called because the Romans put a spray of it in the water in which they washed their hands. The Latin word to wash is lavare.

Arithmetical Progression.

He had complained jealously that she had too many other young men around "The Idea," she laughed. "Why, I can count them all on the fingers of my left hand. The index finger is Mr. Smart, the second finger is Mr. Balder, and the third finger of my left hand—the third finger is you."

Next day he got a ring for it.—Boston Transcript.

Summed Up.

Do not waste your time upon social questions. What is the matter with the poor is poverty. What is the matter with the rich is uselessness.—G. Bernard Shaw.

ELECTION BOARD
FINISHES WORK
IN RECORD TIME

The deputy state supervisors of elections met this afternoon in their quarters in the city hall building in fourth street and closed up all business pertaining to the late election. All bills were read and vouchers ordered drawn for the payment of same. The election this year was a strenuous one for the board, and they were in continuous session for several days before the election and nearly a week afterwards, besides working all night Tuesday and until midnight for several nights thereafter. They compiled all statistics and had them in the hands of the secretary of state last Saturday, the totals of the heads of tickets, however, having been phoned to that official the day following the election. The board was highly complimented by the state officials for its promptness in sending in the returns.

at Conference On

Civic Affairs

A telegram received by the Newark Chamber of Commerce from the Youngstown Chamber of Commerce today said: "The state meeting of organizations to be held at Columbus tomorrow promises to be productive and largely attended. We are counting on Newark chamber to be there with a representative delegation at 2:00 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce rooms."

The meeting is called by commercial organizations, the state grange and the Ohio Municipal League for the purpose of working out a plan for a better system of financing Ohio cities. It involves an improvement on the present system of taxation. The Newark chamber will be represented by Chairman J. N. Pugh of the civic bureau, Chairman Homer C. Price of the agricultural bureau and the manager. In addition County Superintendent of Schools Jordan, several prominent farmers and grangers, City Auditor A. Nelson Dodd and one or two more of the city officials will attend the meeting.

For All Complexion Ills

If the skin be colorless, yellow, muddy, over-red, blotchy or freckled, nothing will so surely overcome the condition as ordinary mercurized wax. It literally takes off a bad complexion—absorbs the dead and near-dead particles of surface skin, gently, gradually, causing no inconvenience at all. A new complexion is then in evidence. Freckles, spots, delicately soft and beautiful one cause of this wax, procurable at any drugstore will relieve even the worst complexion. It is used like cold cream.

MRS. FLAGLER BUYS
A MILLION DOLLAR
SITE IN NEW YORK

[Associated Press Telegram]
New York, Nov. 14.—Mrs. Henry M. Flagler, widow of the railroad magnate, has taken title to ground on Upper Fifth avenue valued at $1,000,000. The site is the fashionable residential section and it is believed that Mrs. Flagler will build a mansion on it and make this city her home. Mrs. Flagler, who is reputed to be worth between $60,000,000 and $70,000,000, is to be married tomorrow to Judge Robert Worth Bingham of Louisville, Ky.

Local "Y" Takes Part In Campaign
For R. R. Members

The Newark Y. M. C. A. has been invited by the International Organization of Railroad Associations to take part in the continent-wide campaign for 20,000 new members. The membership committee is urging that all railroad men and railroad men's sons living in Newark consider the advisability of taking memberships in the local Y. M. C. A. before Nov. 24th when the campaign closes. A ticket in this association is honored in any association in North America, and the opportunities for helpfulness for its individual members are as great here as elsewhere. This is the railroad man's opportunity.

How Famous Actresses
Banish Superfluous Hair

Betty Lorraine, the popular actress who won fame in "The Little Parolee" and other comedies writes: "Theatrical women are now using a remarkable preparation that acts like magic in erasing all trace of unsightly hair growth. It is Mrs. Osgood's Wonder. Unlike the electric needle, it can be used with perfect safety. Unlike exfoliating depilatories, it doesn't burn the skin. I used it first over a year ago and have not had a trace of superfluous hair since."
